

City of London School RSE (Relationships and Sex Education) Policy

0. Monitoring and Review of Policy

0.1 This policy is reviewed annually, or more regularly as required, prior to approval by governors.

Policy last reviewed by:	Alice Martineau (Deputy Head (Pastoral))
Date policy last reviewed:	August 2021 (new policy)
Approved for the Governors:	Board of Governors
Date approved:	14 October 2021

1. Introduction

1.1 This policy gives details of the School's policies, procedures and teaching regarding Relationships and Sex Education (RSE). This policy is available on the School website and at the request of parents / carers.

1.2 This policy has been written in accordance with statutory guidance from the DfE issued under Section 80A of the Education Act 2001 and section 403 of the Education Act 1996. It is written in accordance with guidance laid out in Keeping Children Safe in Education (September 2021), Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education (July 2020) and Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children in schools (July 2021).

This policy is updated annually by the Deputy Head (Pastoral) and is developed with the consultation of parents.

1.3 This policy should be read in conjunction with:

- Personal, Social, Health and Economic Education (PSHE) and Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural development (SMSC) Policy
- Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy
- Anti-Bullying Policy
- Mental Health Provision Guidance
- Digital Safety Policy

1.4 This policy has regard to Part 1 (Quality of education provided), Paragraph 2 (Curriculum) and Part 2 (Spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of pupils), Paragraph 5 (SMSC) of the Independent School Standards Regulations.

2. The scope of the policy

- 2.1 In line with the School's aims and objectives, the RSE curriculum is designed to help pupils' personal, moral and social development, which incorporates the concept of citizenship.
- 2.2 The School understands that pupils need knowledge that will enable them to make informed decisions about their relationships and sexual behaviour and to better understand one another. Pupils will learn about respect for themselves and others when forming relationships, and will leave the School with a strong understanding of consent and the conversations around it.
- 2.3 The Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education regulations 2020, made under sections 34 and 35 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017, make relationships and sex education (RSE) compulsory for all pupils receiving secondary education.

RSE also supports the delivery of the requirement of Section 1 of the Education Reform Act (1988) that the school curriculum should be one which:

'promotes moral, cultural, mental and physical development of the pupils at the school and of society; and prepares such pupils for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adult life'

The importance of teaching young people about consent is central to learning about healthy, equal and safe relationships and choices. In November 2013, the Office of the Children's Commissioner (OCC) completed an inquiry into child sexual exploitation (CSE) which has raised awareness of the prevalence of this issue and the urgent need to tackle it. The OCC inquiry showed that young people do not always recognise non-consensual sexual situations including rape. The inquiry confirmed the importance of good quality RSE, which addresses gender-based and power inequalities, how these can lead to coercion and sexual violence, and the need for this to be taught in all schools as part of universal prevention.

- 2.4 The School is aware that for many young people the distinction between the online and other aspects of life is less marked than for some adults. Young people operate very freely in the online world and by secondary school age some are likely to be living a substantial proportion of their life online. Effective education in RSE extends into the online and digital world and this is addressed through the RSE curriculum.
- 2.5 The school actively promotes the Fundamental British Values. Discriminatory or extremist opinions are challenged as a matter of routine.
- 2.6 The School encourages respect for all people, paying particular regard to the Equality Act 2010. The School is aware of its responsibilities with regard to protected characteristics and actively champions diversity and promotes inclusion.
- 2.7 The School recognises its responsibility to make RSE accessible and differentiated for SEND pupils.

2.8 The School draws pupils from a wide variety of religious and cultural backgrounds. It is important, therefore, that we acknowledge, and are sensitive to, differing attitudes.

Right to be excused from sex education (commonly referred to as the right to withdraw)

Parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from some or all of sex education delivered as part of PSHE.

Upon receipt of a request to withdraw the Head will discuss with parents, and if appropriate, the pupil, to ensure that their wishes are understood and to clarify the nature and purpose of the curriculum. As a matter of good practice, the Head is likely to discuss the benefits of the child receiving RSE with the parents. Once this discussion has taken place, except in exceptional circumstances, the School will respect the parents' request to withdraw the child, up to and until three terms before the pupil turns 16. After that point, if the pupil wishes to receive sex education rather than be withdrawn, the School will make arrangements to provide the pupil with sex education. Up until the age of 16, the pupil will be excused until the request is withdrawn.

This process is the same for pupils with SEND, however, there may be exceptional circumstances where the Head may want to take a pupil's specific needs arising from their SEND into account when making this decision.

For pupils in OG, the Head will automatically grant a request to withdraw a pupil from any sex education delivered, other than as part of the Science curriculum.

There is no right to withdraw a pupil of any age from Relationships Education or Health Education.

The School maintains that it is beneficial for all pupils to receive Relationships and Sex education.

Subject Content

Sex and Relationships Education is learning about the emotional, social and physical aspects of growing up, relationships, sex, human sexuality and sexual health.

The aim of RSE is to give young people the information they need to help them develop healthy, nurturing relationships of all kinds, not just intimate relationships. It aims to enable them to know what a healthy relationship looks like and what makes a good friend, a good colleague and a successful marriage, civil partnership or other type of committed relationship. It covers contraception, developing intimate relationships and resisting pressure to have sex and not applying pressure. It aims to teach what is acceptable and unacceptable behaviour in relationships, which will enable pupils to understand the positive effects that good relationships have on their mental wellbeing and to identify when relationships are not right and understand how to manage such situations.

Effective RSE does not encourage early sexual experimentation. Instead, it aims to teach young people to understand human sexuality and respect themselves and others.

The curriculum (see Appendix 1) teaches the facts and the law about sex, sexuality, sexual health and gender identity in an age appropriate and inclusive way.

The mechanics of puberty and reproduction are covered in the Biology Curriculum in the First Form and in more detail (including birth) in the Fifth Form.

Delivery

RSE is delivered by subject teachers and Form teachers as part of the dedicated PSHE curriculum, as well as through assemblies, Form time and visiting speakers. Inevitably, discussions are likely to arise during Clubs and Societies and the academic curriculum. Teachers who deliver the curriculum are experienced in managing difficult questions, dealing with pupil embarrassment and unease, safeguarding and supporting pupils with SEND and protected characteristics and handling complex conversations. Teachers who are timetabled to teach RSE are given dedicated training. The School understands that there will be a range of opinions regarding RSE. When teaching, the starting point is always the applicable law and presenting it in a factual way so that pupils are clear on their rights and responsibilities as citizens. The School aims to inform the pupils about the full range of perspectives so that, within the law, they are well-equipped to make decisions for themselves about how to live their own lives in the future, whilst respecting the right of others to make their own decisions and hold their own beliefs.

Sex Education is delivered by experienced teaching professionals during the Fourth Form, including the Deputy Head (Pastoral). These staff are trained in the delivery of Sex Education.

The delivery is monitored and evaluated by regular governor reviews, observation by the Designated Safeguarding Lead and Deputy Designated Safeguarding Leads and the Head of PSHE.

Safeguarding

Ground rules for discussions during PSHE lessons are set by the teacher and class at the beginning of every PSHE topic (e.g. pupils encouraged not to give specific examples or target individuals, but to keep discussions general). Teachers and other professionals will be required to exercise professional judgement if pupils raise explicit issues that are not appropriate to the level of the maturity of the rest of the class. In such cases, they should not discuss these issues with the whole class. Where the parents wish them to do so, it may be appropriate to respond individually to the pupil's question outside the class. Teachers also recommend suitable websites which pupils can look at for further information.

While helping pupils who want advice about personal problems has always been part of a school's role, it is essential to understand the distinction between teaching about controversial issues such as contraception and abortion and advising pupils on such matters. Teachers are not health professionals and pupils should be encouraged to seek advice from their parents.

Teachers should not promise confidentiality but can tell pupils where to seek confidential advice and treatment (e.g. from a G.P.) family planning or young people's advisory clinic.

The School acknowledges its duty to promote the safety and wellbeing of our pupils. In cases where the teacher has reason to believe that a pupil is in distress or in danger the teacher should, in the first instance, consult the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) in accordance with the School's Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy.

Parents

In development of its schemes of work and resources, the School undertook a consultation with parents (during academic year 2019 - 2020) and will continue to consult with parents on an alternate yearly basis in order to keep the content of sex education under review and to maintain input from parents on content and delivery. This School presents on an annual basis (from 2022) an RSE Forum to showcase materials and topics. This also provides an opportunity to address concerns and help parents to manage conversations with their children.

Parents receive a letter at the beginning of each half term detailing what will be covered in the PSHE and RSE curricula, including details of any speakers.

RSE resources are available from the Head of PSHE and some are on the School Parent Portal.

Appendix 1: The RSE Curriculum

R codes below correspond directly to those listed by the PSHE Association. The CLS scheme of work for each year group indicates which lessons and resources correspond to which R code within the RSE framework. All RSE resources are published to parents.
